Transactions

Report any purchase, sale, or exchange by you of stocks, bonds, commodity futures, and other forms of investment if the amount of the transaction exceeded $1,000. This includes such transactions carried out by your spouse or dependent children. You do not need to report: (1) transactions solely between you, your spouse, and your dependent children; (2) transactions involving the purchase, sale, or exchange of your personal residence or real estate used solely as your personal residence; (3) transactions involving Treasury bills, notes, and bonds; (4) transactions involving the purchase, sale, or redemption of shares in a mutual fund, unless the fund invests primarily in securities of companies doing business in a particular industry or sector; (5) transactions involving certain holdings in a widely held investment fund (such as a stock or bond index fund); (6) transactions solely between you and your spouse or dependent child; or (7) transactions in the assets listed by you pursuant to Part I of this report.

Deadlines

You must file your report within 30 days of being nominated, appointed, or selected for a position in the executive branch, if you are required to file within that deadline. If you are not required to file within 30 days, you must file within 30 days of the date on which you begin performing the duties of your position, unless you file a nomination report for that position. Your report is late if it is not received or postmarked within the applicable deadline.
