COMMENTS
(3.17) Two annual reports and one termination report were required to be filed by PAS employees during the period covered by the review. The termination report was certified 5 days beyond the 60-day deadline. Model Practice: Prior to certifying a public financial disclosure report, an FTC ethics official provides tailored counseling in writing to the filer about potential conflicts (financial and otherwise) based on the contents of his/her report. If potential conflicts are identified (e.g., the filer holds stock in a publicly traded company), the filer is also asked to confirm s/he is aware of no actual conflicts in light of his/her FTC duties. Even where no potential conflicts are identified, basic guidance on financial conflicts is always provided in writing in case the filer's investment portfolio changes in the future. The FTC's Ethics Team takes this same approach for a subset of all confidential financial disclosure reports. In addition, FTC managers, the vast majority of whom are public or confidential financial disclosure filers, receive detailed, tailored ethics guidance making them better equipped to address their own conflicts and supervise others.
